Netiquette Prompts for Remote Class Sessions

As you establish class norms and expectations for your students, remember to include a statement on your netiquette policies. Consider the following questions to guide your thinking on appropriate standards of online communication and decorum:

1) Joining the Remote Class
   a) Should students arrive early to check their technology settings?
   b) Will students start in a waiting room?
   c) Can students join from their phone, or is a computer required?
   d) How should students expect you to call the class to order?

2) BYU Class Standards
   a) Do dress and grooming rules apply?
   b) Are students allowed to eat or drink during class?

3) Camera and Audio
   a) When should students turn on their camera and microphone?
   b) What can students do to minimize distractions to themselves and others? (noise, visual, etc.)

4) Class Participation
   a) How should students signal a desire to participate?
   b) How will the class Teaching Assistant contribute?
   c) How should the chat feature be utilized?
   d) How will breakout rooms be incorporated?
